By NEWBOLD NOYES. Only one circumstance-the fact that she twice had found marital unhappiness-kept Wallis Simpson from becoming Queen of England. The Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Simpson are both convinced of this. They feel that the British empire would have accepted a commoner, and even an American, but would not allow a twice-divorced woman to be come a royal consort.

Wallis Simpson, in my opinion, is as well fitted for a throne-in character, poise and mental attributesas any woman who ever lived. Not Beautiful Woman.

Millions of words have been written about Mrs. Simpson, but I propose in this article to attempt to show her personality as it was revealed not only in my presence but in the presence of the man she loves. Behind this revelation stand many years of our personal friend-Wallis Simpson is not beautiful in the classic sense of beauty. Her face is too strong in character and personality to be that. She is, of course, dark. This is not precisely true of her hair. Although in photographs it looks quite black, actually it is dark brown with golden lights. A year ago she wore it with little curls upon her brow. Today there are none and her hair is drawn straight back in a lovely,

Her evebrows are very delicately traced and her lashes are black. Her eyes are a deep violet. There is a tiny crease between her brows and this, she insisted, is a family trait. Her forehead, which is very high, is perhaps the best feature she pos sesses. Her nose is finely chiseled and her mouth bespeaks sympathy and humor. district, comprising Georgia, Florida,
North Carolina, South Carolina, Maryland, Alabama, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

West is concluding a three-year term as a Class C director on the same bank board, having been elected to this position in 1933. He has been identified with the home mortgage business for more than 25 years. He is also president of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association, of Atlanta, which has loaned almost $2,000,000 in Atlanta on homes. THOMAS H. WARD RITES THREE SCORE AND MORE WILL BE HELD TODAY ELECT FIRST OFFICERS Atlantan Appointed to Four-Year Term as Public Director of U. S. Institute.

Funeral services for Thomas H. Ward, efficiency expert of the Oak Manufacturing Company, East Point textile firm, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning instead of yesterday, as originally planned.

The services will be held at the Church of the Incarnation with Dr. G. W. McClure, P. C. Cashman and Mrs. Minnie Hildebrand, executive committee, were other officers elected. President Gleason said the purpose of the club was to create social activities among the men and women of Atlanta who are 55 years of age or more. Meetings will be held on Thursdays, he said.

Christmas Gifts To Be Presented All Employes Regardless of Walkout. Approval of Grant by Presi-

Christmas bonus of $79,115 to 1,-640 employes of the Atlanta Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants will be paid this afternoon despite the walkout strike at the two plants, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors Corporation, announced yester-

Though most of the wo. ers are not technically on the pay roll in accordance with provisions of the annual bonus, the executive committee voted not to "penalize the mass for the action of a few," Sloan stated.

The Christmas gifts will be from $35 to $60 each, according to the pay of the workers, and will be distributed at the two plants after 12 o'clock today. To be eligible employes must have worked a minimum of 26 weeks during the year.

President Sloan's statement pointed out that notice of the bonus from the corporation's "appreciation fund," which was posted November 10, provided that the gifts would be made to workers on the pay roll December 1 who had been employed by the company, of Wheeling, W. Va., which has already been awarded the contract.

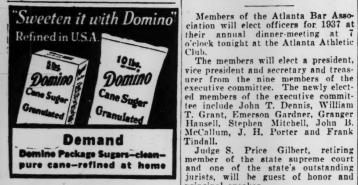

J. Houstoun Johnston, state PWA director, was notified by wire yesterday morning that the President approach to workers on the pay roll pecember 1 who had been employed by the company, of Wheeling, W. Va., which has already been awarded the contract.

J. Houstoun Johnston, state PWA director, was notified by wire yesterday morning that the President approach to worker and manufactories and made the majority of employes ineligible from a technical standpoint.

"Realizing, however, that the cessa" ployes ineligible from a technical standpoint.

"Realizing, however, that the cessarition of employment of the great majority of the workmen is due entirely to the action of only a few employes, the executive committee of General Motors Corporation feels that the mass of loyal employes should not be penalized because of the action of a few of their fellow workmen." President Sloan stated. "Consequently, the executive committee has decided that the appreciation fund award will be paid to employes of the two divisions

Due to an enormous crop of Turkeys this year, prices have dropped to a very low level. It is bad for the farmer, as he cannot raise Turkeys for the price he is getting now; and therefore, his loss is your gain. Do not expect the farmer to "take it on the chin" again soon, as he will not do it. Turkeys will not be as cheap at Thankagiving or Christmas for many years as they are today.

ADVANCE OF MEDICINE Royal Family of 'Let's Pretend' Presentation IS UNDERMINING RACE, TECH ENGINEERS SAY

Faculty Committee Report for President Roosevelt Cites 'Human Erosion.'

A faculty committee at Georgia Tech, in a report prepared for President Roosevelt, asserted yesterday the "saving and prolonging" of the lives of the weak and unfit is "undermining the physical well-being of future generations."

The committee, appointed to respond to the President's inquiry on how engineering schools might help solve the nation's problems, said "human erosion" is resulting from advancements in medical science.

"This seemingly paradoxical statement becomes clear when it is realized that in saving and prolonging the lives of the weak and even physically unfit, we are in a very real sense undermining the physical well-being of future generations," the committee said.

The group suggested "our institu-

The group suggested "our institutions of higher learning must abandon the traditional worship of unrelated knowledge for itself alone and begin the work of developing leaders of,

able to guide this country towards a solution of its difficulties."

The committee said other causes of "human erosion" included war, land erosion, and industrial specialization,
"which renders workers highly vulnerable to economic changes."

Joe Brown in 'Polo Joe'

On Paramount Screen chondriac, and George Hassell, her Joe E. Brown gallops into the Parmount theater today in the latest of all his Warner Brothers starring vehicles. "Polo Joe." He plays the venicies. Tolo Joe. The plays the role of Joe Bolton, an Amgrican youth who, after several years in China, returns home with a solemn-visaged valet and an unbounded supply of tall tales. He returns to the arms of his tales. He returns to the arms of his adoring, gushing and disgustingly rich Aunt Minnie, a member of an extremely swanky polo-playing colony.

Joe at once falls violently in love with pretty Mary Hilton, a neighbor, who recognizes no hero but a poloplaying hero. Joe and his valet discuss the case in hand and decide Joe must nose as a star at 100. After must pose as a star at polo. After that, he brags so much about his skill he is finally shamed into becoming an active member of the local polo To get him out of his fix the valet,

To get him out of his fix the valet, with more enthusiasm than judgment, hires a couple of thugs to kidnap Joe before the game. Their plans are overheard by the rival for Mary Hilton's hand, who relays the information to Mary's father. Joe is forced into the big game of the season.

After a number of dumb plays which weaken the faith of seasons. which weaken the faith of everyone but the girl, Joe about-faces and makes a series of such brilliant plays be wins both the game and the girl.

Carol Hughes, who made such a hit with Joe in "Earthworm Tractors," is delightful as the pretty polo enthusiast. "Skeets" Gallagher des tors," is delightful as the pretty poloenthusiast. "Skeets" Gallagher does the deadpan valet with gusto. Gordon Elliott is Joe's rival and Joseph King is Mary's country-gentleman dad. David Newell is her brother. Olive Tell her mother, and Fay Holden is Joe's effusive Aunt Minnie. George E. Stone and Charles Foy are effective as the comical crooks. As an added attraction Joe throws in some rare tricks and for good measure sings a Chinese song.

Rembrandt, "produced by Alexander Korda and starring Charles

"Rembrandt," produced by Alexander Korda and starring Charles Laughton, the producer-star combination, that gave the memorable "Private Life of Henry VIII," begins a week's engagement at Loew's Grand theater today. The first film to depict the life of the great Dutch artist for whom love and inspiration always went hand in hand, "Rembrandt" offers Laughton another great human characterization.

The actor, who went to Amsterdam to absorb atmosphere for this colorful portrayal, is said to bear a remarkable resemblance to the man whose love of beauty was equalled only by his genius.

Produced on a lavish scale, with some of the most magnificent sets ever seen on the screen, "Rembrandt" follows the artist's life and loves. The picture covers the period from the days of his greatest glory, when the world was at his feet and he was ideally happy with the lovely Saskia, to the loneliness and poverty of his old age.

Dr. Pettis died just a few days before the conference convened.

The tragic visits of death, either to some minister or to some member of a minister or to some member of a minister's family, at conference time each year since 1913 have been:

1913—Dr. J. B. Robins, pastor of Atlanta Trinity church, died after an illness of barely two hours. After speaking for some 20 minutes, in delivering the sermon of the Sunday night of the conference, he was forced to take his seat as he said: "The Captain of our salvation was made perfect through suffering." Taken to his room, he died just before midnight. 1914—Dr. W. P. Lovejoy, presiding elder of the Atlanta district, was stricken and died within two days, as the conference assembled at Marietta. His funeral service was a special session of the conference.

The five chief characteristics which, I think, predominate in Mrs. Simpson's personality are companion ability, loyalty, simplicity, vitality and naturalness.

and naturalness.

She is the perfect companion, and this accounts, perhaps, more strongly than all else for her attraction for Edward. She has the supreme conversational capacity of being a good listener as well as a good talker. She not only gives the impression—but it is actually true—that she is deeply interested in the person vis-a-vis, in his viewpoints, in his interests, in what he has to say. She laughs at the right places, She laughs at the right places, and her laughter is genuine. Her wit, proverbial in London and on the continent, is but a refinement of

One General Freed.

It was announced General Chiang Ting-wen, captured at Sianfu last week with the generalissimo, had been freed by Marshal Chang and permitted to carry to the Nanking leaders a statement of his terms.

Chiang Ting-wen, formerly military governor of Fukien, had been slated to succeed Marshal Chang in command of the Communist suppression forces in Shensi. The prospect of his replacement was considered one reason why Marshal Chang revolted. The government continued to pub-lish evidence supporting its contention the generalissimo is alive and unharmed, although a prisoner, at no the same room with the generalissimo."

Nanking's reports from the Shensi battlefield pictured uninterrupted successes for the Loyal divisions encircling the Rebel capital, and officials indicated Marshal Chang's readiness to negotiate was due in part to his desperate military situation.

Demonstration flights of Nanking war planes over Sianfu contributed to Chang's willingness to proffer terms, Nanking believed.

The finest units of the modern air force developed by the generalissimo were concentrated in several airfields in Honan.

One report said 400 government planes darkened the skies over Sianful to show Nanking's ability to blow the Rebel center off the map. Authoritative estimates indicate that figure exceeds the total effective strength of the central air force.

Vital Railway Cut.

Nanking asserted Loyal divisions were driving all before them. compelling Rebels to fall back rapidly on Sianfu, which government successes already had cut off from railway communication with the outside and from possible aid by any allies.

West of Sianfu, Nanking troops were said to hold Paochi, treminus of the vital Lunghai railway, while on the east government units had seized this line to within 50 miles of Sianfu. The official Central News Agency at Shanghai said fighting had already spread around Sianfu itself.

The Domei—Japanese—news agency reported General Ho Ying-chin, Nanking minister of war, had ordered 16 divisions—between 130.000 and 150,000 men—concentrated in Shensi for a major offensive against the mutincers; that Marshal Chang's forces had launched a counter-offensive 70 miles northeast of Sianfu where severe fighting had been in progress for 24 hours; that both armies were suffering from bitter cold.

Report Chang in Flight.

Contributing to the loyal army's rapid progress in Shensi, Nanking reported, was Marshal Chang's failure to defend adequately the strategic pass at Tungkwan, on Shensi's eastern border, where a few machine guns could have held off invaders indefinitely.

This failure was attributed to the rebel leader's mistaken confidence.

This failure was attributed to the rebel leader's mistaken confidence that his lieutenants in Honan, to the east, would rise with him and hold back any Nanking advance on Tungkwan, where the Lunghai railway enters Shensi.

SPECIAL HONOR PAID TO WRIGHT BROTHERS BY AVIATION LEADERS

Airplane Inventors Flew at Kitty Hawk, N. C., 33 Years Ago.

DAYTON, Ohio, Dec. 17.—(A)—Orville Wright, who looked down on Kitty Hawk, N. C., 33 years ago in man's first flight in a heavier-thanair machine, looked up today at a shiny, 21-passenger air liner dirping in salute to "those crazy Wright boys," co-inventors of the airplane.

Orville's brother, Wilbur, who helped to build the crate-like machine which flew for 12 seconds above Kitty Hawk on December 17, 1903, died in 1912. Men high in aviation laid a wreath on Ms grave today.

Orville Wright broke the routine of his quiet life to accept the honors brought to him and join in a dedicatory ceremony at the municipal airport marking the start of transcontinental air service for Dayton.

From President Roosevelt came a letter extending "the greetings and good wishes of the American people."

"Throughout the nation," the President wrote, "your fellow airmen who are also your devoted followers, are observing this anniversary in gratifude to you and your brother. Wilbur, for showing us the way to fly.

"They are being joined by countless numbers of citizens who, while not directly connected with the science of aviation, revere the Wright brothers and recognize the value of their

He reiterated there would be no increased toyes at the coming session.

"Reports of receipts to the treasury are most gratifying," he said.

Keeping Down Budget.

Speaker Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, came out of the President's office with a statement he had discussed prospects of keeping appropriations down.

Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director, who attended a parley between the President, Secretary Morgenthau and Marriner S. Eccles, federal reserve board chairman, said "there is nothing left to be done on the budget now but the message." (The President's budget message to congress.)

Concerning Mr. Roosevelt's second-term cabinet, one high official predicted there would be no general change in the present lineup. This belief was grounded on the knowledge that the President did not believe in "shake-ups." he said.

The only secretaryship that may be changed, he added, was the war

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS BY PAUL MALLON.

ERA WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Several confidential dinners for businessmen have been staged in New York since election by prominent unofficial friends of the New Deal.

The apparent purpose was to promote a better understanding of government among the business leaders, who are anxious to co-operate in international diplomacy with a concentration of the promote of them. The move seems of the property of them. The move seems on the promote of the property of them.

if they can only find out what is expected of them. The move seems to be the first realistic step toward establishment of the mutually desirable "era of good feeling."

The obligations of businessmen toward the social security act and toward administration aims of improving hours and wages were among the things discussed.

No reporters were invited and no publicity sought, because of unofficial and preliminary nature of the discussions. However, an excellent authority here says that three dinners have been held so far, that more are to come, and that one of the backers of the plan is Bernard Baruch, the leading friend of the New Deal in financial circles. The dinners may lead to a later series of official meetings of business leaders and government officials here.

RETRENCHMENT The insiders around WPA will admit, if you can catch them in a confidential mood, that their widely advertised savings are more advertised than wide.

Much has been published about the sharp reductions in their administrative force. What is said to be contemplated actually is a reduction of about 10 per cent among their 30,000 administrative employes. It does not appear to be entirely an economy move, but a natural result of the voluntary curtailment in the number of WPA relief workers. About 3 per cent per month are retiring voluntarily.

Official figures show a reduction from 3,800,000 relief workers last March to 3,200,000 at the latest accounting, but these figures include CCC and some direct relief. Their real figure now is supposed to be down to 2,400,000. This is not large enough to furnish workers for all the PWA projects which are contemplated, and much outside skilled labor will have to be hired.

Note-There will be no trouble about getting WPA funds through congress this year. Harry Hopkins had much difficulty last year with senators who thought he was throwing away money. His appropriations were held up for months. This year, the senators are in a different

CUSTOMS Planners of President Roosevelt's inaugural are said to have cautioned him against an outdoor ceremony, in one of their private White House meetings. They pointed out that it is likely to be snowing or near zero here in mid-January, and they advised an indoor ceremony or closed stands.

Mr. Roosevelt objected strongly. He said that, even if a blizzard is blowing and the thermometer is at zero, he intends to renew his office in the same spot and in the same way as his predecessors, bareheaded, in front of the crowd.

The suggestion then was offered that he might go back inside and deliver his inaugural over loudspeakers if the weather is extreme. Probably some such arrangements will be made.

In all other respects, this first January inaugural is apparently to be the same as March inaugurals in the past, with no concessions to Note-The stands are being enlarged this year to seat the 435 congressmen in proper style. Heretofore, the lowly legislators have been permitted to crowd around the pillars. The press stands also are being enlarged to accommodate the 30 per cent more newsmen registered here since the New Deal started making news four years ago. All the dignitaries will sit on wooden stands, but a small steel floor is being built this year for Mr. Roosevelt, just large enough to accommodate about DISSATISFACTION The rumor that Harry Hopkins may get out to take that Chicago mail order job has been going around for a long time. His confidants say he has had it in mind several times, but that nothing will come of it any time soon. It has always been denied officially whenever it has appeared, but that does not necessarily mean anything these days.

The WPA administrator received a raise in pay to $12,000 from the last congress, and no one knows more than he does about WPA. At the same time, the job of paring down is not one exactly suited to his talents and enthusiasm. Later on he will certainly hit the outward trail.

LONE WORKER What J. Edgar Hoover apparently needs is a good publicity man. Growls were heard among congressmen when they read in the papers that the Investigation Bureau chief had scooped New York and New Jersey police in the capture of another bandit. The congressmen have heard similar complaints from at least six other city police authorities and one organization of troopers. There is no question that several congressmen and at least two senators would like to get Hoover out. He is going to have more trouble than he had with the New York police when his annual appropriation bill comes up next year.

Liberal Spending Isn't Liberality If You Alone Get the Benefit

By ROBERT QUILLEN A magazine printed for radio fans recently contained the information that radio's most popular comedian eats breakfast in a drug store, owns no automobile, and employs no servants.

Commenting on this slander, a famous New York columnist said he uldn't believe it because such conduct by a man with a great income would prove him a miser.

would prove nothing of the kind. Thousands of prosperous Americans desire nothing for breakfast accept a cup of coffee, with the possible addition of a slice of toast. They are nervous, busy men, and they regard breakfast as a small matter to be finished without loss of time. They are miserly of minutes, not pennies. If a man gets his coffee and toast at a fine restaurant, waits some minutes for service, tips the waiter and pays a quarter to retrieve hi. hat and overcoat, it proves only that he has plenty of leisure and a high regard for appearances.

Even if he eats a half-rozen griddle cakes, as many eggs, and as Even in the east a main-rozen griddle cakes, as many eggs, and as many links of sausage, it proves only that he has a good appetite. Showing himself a good time is no proof of big-hearted generosity.

Nor is it miserly to own no car. Many prosperous apartment dwellers in big cities regard an automobile as a nuisance. Heavy traffic takes all the pleasure out of driving, and a taxi is more convenient.

Doing without servants may seem miserly, but childless couples who reach middle age before their ships come in have learned to be selfreliant and independent and don't want servants around. It makes them feel like they had company. And they'd rather do their own work than sacrifice their privacy.

The American idea is that people should "live up to their income," but the idea is more snobbish than wise. There is no virtue in buying something you don't want merely because you have the money.

The wisest of chief Justices, aware of his ability and without desire to show off, decided in young manhood that he could earn all he needed by working only a fraction of his time and devoting the remainder to the ervice of humanity. He doesn't spend money uselessly.

The miser may live simply, but the wisest and least selfish live the same way. It isn't a generous spirit that prompts a man to buy himself all available luxuries.

As the group ended a two-day organization session, spokesmen said there probably would be a series of regional meetings before a report was handed to President Roosevelt sometime before February 1.

The commission had the word of Secretary Wallace, its chairman, that billions of dollars would be required to finance any large scale program of ownership for all tenant farmers, estimated to number 2,865,000. He suggested additional avenues of approach, Other members said improvement of leasing arrangements so that tenants would have a long time interest in lands and buildings was a fertile field for activity.

A. G. Black, chief of the Bureau gricultural Economics, advised that differential real estate tax favoring or exempting small farm owners would assist many.

L. C. Gray, federal land expert and executive secretary of the committee, outlined proposals for government acquisition of land which would be sold to individuals under long-time contracts, leased to individual farmers, or operated by co-operative groups in plantation systems.

Stay.

Doctor's say it will take at least eight or ten months more before the cure is complete. Of course, in tuberculosis, particularly when it had reached the advanced stage as in Mrs. W.'s case, it is hard to tell, exactly, how long the cure will take. One year ago the doctors guessed that 18 months was about the time. Twelve of those 18 have gone. She may be completely cured in another six months. Or it might take another 12.

Whatever the time required, she must have help to the extent of $20 a month. If the cure is to be completed, if she is to be restored to her family, if all the good work already done is not to be thrown away and the woman tossed back to the hopeless fate from which she has been so nearly rescued.

To rescue such a woman, to restore a mother to the arms of five loving little children, to cheat the grave, is such a case, is surely worth $20 a month.

It is a slow response and we are hoping, and praying, that the gifts will come quicker between now and Christmas morning, when the complete record of the Opportunities response for the year must be written.

There are many people in Atlanta who could undertake to provide, out of their own funds, the $25 or $30 a nonth needed to assume entire responsibility for a family.

There are hundreds of groups classes, societies and other organizations whose members could, together, and there is not one of us who could not spare some gift, anywhere from $1 to $100, for the general fund which, added to the gifts of others, will make up the needed amount.

In discussing the prospects of Savannah and Georgia getting a newsprint mill in the near future, Dr. Herty stated:

"I'm sorry to say that from things
I have learned during the past week,
I am inclined to believe that because of the lack of activity of industrial leaders and persons with capital in Georgia, the first newsprint mill of the south will not be in Georgia, but will be in another state where at the present time very active steps are being taken to develop such a mill." secretary Morgenthau and Chairman Marriner Eccles, of the Federal Reserve Board, were the President's callers. Authoritative sources said they gave him preliminary findings in a study of foreign capital movements and their effects on domestic credit and price structures.

The study was ordered by Mr. Roosevelt with a view to determining what control measures are necessary.

Undesirable Influence.

Shortly before the White House conference, the Federal Reserve Board made public a recent talk by Eccles in Boston in which he said a heavy inflow of foreign funds is an "undesirable" influence on domestic credit. He added there is now no way of preventing it.

When capital flows into the country, it increases excess bank reserves, which serve as the basis for expansion of credit. When it flows out, excess bank reserves decrease, tending to contract credit.

cess bank reserves decrease, tending to contract credit.

Taxing of foreign holdings has been considered as a possible control mechanism, and this proposal was discussed in Eccles' talk, which had not been made public until today.

Some Christmas Novelties for Men

By ROBERT FAIRCHILD, Editor, Men's Fashions.

There are utilitarian gifts and there are those that although intended to be utilitarian fail rather glaringly in the effort. Among the genuinely useful articles from which you may want to make your selection of Christmas gifts to men are the leather items shown at the right. The tirst, upper left, is a utility had in tan calfskin with saddle stitching, an oiled-silk lining and slide-fastened top. At the upper right is a smaller case in cowhide, also saddle-stitched, lined in patterned fabric. These cases are excellent for the traveler who wants a receptacle for random items. Across the bottom of the panel are shown three of the latest type wallets. From left to right they are: combination wallet and key case in black leather; another type of two-fold wallet, and a slide-fastened bill-fold with compartments for many different cards, papers, and (if you have it) money. tion of Christmas gifts to men are

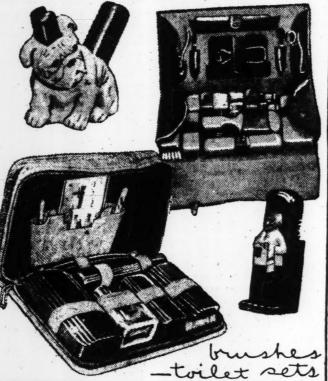

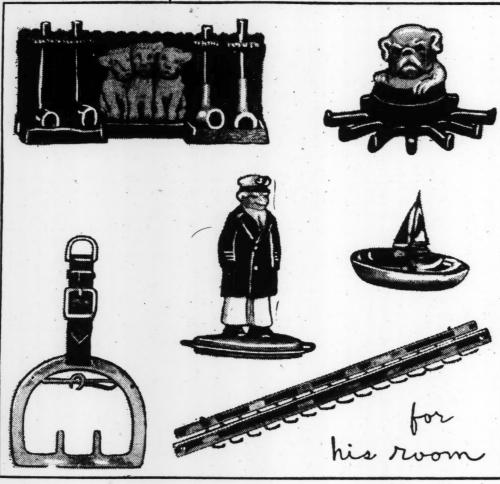

If you saw my column on jewelry as Christmas gifts two weeks ago, you probably remember that there popped up in two places-the cuff links and the tie-clips-the huntingdog figure that you now see on the stickpin at the left. These items are to be had severally or in sets, and besides this design there are other sporting motifs. Stickpins, other sporting motifs. Stickpins, by the way, make novel gifts. At the right in this trio is a key chain with an animal-head pendant—useful and attractive. The keys are slipped over that horseshoe-shaped piece at the upper end and the other end clips on the pocket. In the center is our piece de resistance, a chronograph that seems to do everything but put the cat out. It combines the functions of wristwatch, stop-watch, telemeter and at combines the functions of wrist-watch, stop-watch, telemeter and tachometer. It tells time, measures the distance to the source of any light or sound, indicates the miles-per-hour and object has moved in a given distance, times in fifths of Brushes in decorative array make a most suitable gift to a man. At the right are a few suggestions along this line—upper left, a brush stand for the chiffonier, in bulldog design: upper right and lower left, fitted traveling cases; lower right, another brush stand for the bureau top, this time ornamented with a quaint-looking padre.

Below are several suggestions of gifts suitable for a man's room. Does he like pipes? Vary the gift of a pipe with a pipe stand such as that in the upper right corner, with the three plaintive puppies. Does he hang his neckties on random nails or just throw them into odd corners? Upper right, lower left, center and lower right are four varieties of tie-rack. The bulldog catches them on his octopus arms; the old tar stands on a base with a metal-rod over which they may be slung; the 3-ply tie-holder in the left corner hangs by its leather strap wherever convenient, and at the right is a device with 15 arms which extend or contract according to the way you move one of the rods of many-colored wood through which they run. And, if he scatters ashes, try to get him to use the sailboat ash-tray at right center, the beckening mast of which may give him pause just in time to prevent the flick of the ash on a newly upholstered chair.

Wets Fail To Muster Strength for Vote; Virginia Gets Job Law.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 17.—
(P)—The Ellis 11-2 per cent gross receipts tax on retail sales and amusements was written into Alabama's tax statutes tonight over the signature of Governor Bibb Graves but a death blow was dealt hopes of legal whisky by Christmas.

The tax bill was passed by the Alabama senate today 10 to 14 to become effective January 1, and the chief executive signed the measure this afternoon as soon as it reached his desk, declaring "this is a happy moment."

Repeal advocates, unable to muster strength to recall the house state-store liquor control bill from the senate temperance committee, finally gained an agreement that the measure would be reported back to the senate the first legislative day after the Christmen belidars.

first legislative day after the Christmas holidays.

There was a prevailing sentiment tonight to adjourn the special session legislature tomorrow until January 5.

The tax bill, introduced by Representative L. H. Ellis, of Columbiana, calls for a levy of 11-2 per cent on gross receipts of retail sales and amusements, payable monthly and will expire September 30, 1939. Receipts were estimated at $4,500,000 with the money to go to the schools and to money to go to the schools and to provide homestead exemptions.

money to go to the schools and to provide homestead exemptions.

Governor Graves, who witnesses a deadlock special session early this year, was happy tonight over the successful passage of the tax bill by a legislature which convened November 23 at his call to raise funds to prevent a "collapse" of education, health and public welfare.

Anti-tax senators filed a written protest in the senate journal today after Senator Will O. Walton, of Chambers, accepted a challenge from Senator Hayse Tucker, of Tuscaloosa, to read a letter from the Governor assuring him the tax would not be collected on used and new cars, cotton or cottonseed.

Senator Tucker, in challenging Walton, or read the letter to the senate, asked if he didn't think it was. "political dishonesty."

The Governor, in his letter to Walton, said he did not think the tax would affect receipts from the sale of new and used cars, cotton or cottonseed.

PEACE DELEGATIONS ARE NOT SO PEACEFUL OVER ISSUE OF LEAGUE

Caustic Words Bandied Until Action Is Postponed; Trade Bill Wins.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 17 .- (A)-Inter-American peace conference delegates wrangled in a committee session today over a subcommittee's recommendation for creation of an American League of Nations and finally Faces reddened and caustic words flew as the Argentine and Brazilian delegates led opposition to the idea during a meeting of the Committee on Peace Organization.

The subcommittee, in its report, advocated establishment of an Association of American Countries on lines recommended by Colombia and the Dominican Republic.

Max Hendriquez Urena, a Dominican representative and chairman of the subcommittee, proposed that the conference name five jurists to meet by May 1, 1937, to study the two projects and prepare a report for the regular Pan-American parley slated for Lima, Peru, in 1938, but even this suggestion had strong opposition.

The arms limitation committee, in a quieter seasion, adopted a Chilean resolution uriging general or bilaterial arms limitation agreements, "within the necessities of their (the signalories) internal order and of justified defense."

The Linted States delegation won approval of the conomic committee. The investigation would concentrate on methods for putting the project at the coming train of the reconstitute of methods for putting the project at the coming of the conomic committee.

The United States delegation won approval of the economic committee for its recommendation that governments of the 21 American republics establish equality of treatment in international trade.

The measure will go before the next plenary session for final approval.

The economic committee also adopted a Uruguayan resolution calling on the Pas-American Union—which represents all the American republics and has headquarters in Washington—to communicate with American finance ministers or managers of central banks in order to determine whether it is feasible to call a conference for discussion of monetary stabilization.

RESIDENCE IN NORWAY
OSLO, Norway, Dec. 17.—(P)—
The expiration today of Leon Trotzky's permit to reside in Norway created an impasse for the exiled revolutionary leader and the Norwegian government.

It appeared Trotzky would go right on as a virtual prisoner of Norway and the government could do little about it except to try to cut the cost of his internment.

Norway has insistently refused to extend Trotzky's asylum.

He, on the other hand, has announced he would refuse an offer of refuge in Mexico except with full freedom of political activity. It was understood here that would not be granted.

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH SELECTS DR. GUERRY

SEWANEE. Tenn., Dec. 17.—(P)— Dr. Alexander Guerry, president of the University of Chattanooga, was unanimously elected vice chancellor of the University of the South tonight by the board of trustees.

The 49-year-old educator, if he accepts the post, will succeed Dr. Beniamin F. Finney. Bishop Theodore D.

IMPEACHMENTS URGED TO HALT INJUNCTIONS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—(P)—
Representative Rankin. Democrat, Mississippi, said today he favored, if necessary, "a series of impeachments to put a stop to local federal judges attempting to run this country by injunctions."
His comment, contained in a statement, referred to a federal district court injunction early this week which enjoined the Tennessee Valley Authority from expanding its service.
"We must put a stop to these abuses of judicial power of inferior judges setting themselves up as petty judges setting themselves up as petty dictators," Rankin said.

DEMOCRATIC DEFICIT

a kind of tight look all over. They all feel that the trip has been successful and will bear fruit in better understanding between the Americas. But the home-coming was distinctly sad, for all of them felt, with those who were here, a deep sense of loss over Gus Gennerich's death. This morning the simple services in the east room were held, and as many of Gus' friends as possible, besides his younger nephew, August Gutrie, and his brother-in-law, who came on from New York, were here. The service was a fine and dignified one. The music played by some of the men in the orchestra at the Mayflower hotel, who asked to come and play as his friends, was very lovely. It is good to have lived so that you can leave a memory which was expressed by one of Gus' friends in the following words: "He was always ready to help anyone who needed p." Any one of us might be proud of that epitaph.

My Day

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Wednesday .- At 9 o'clock last night the President's train pulled into the station. I managed to slip into the end of the car before all the people who came down to meet him filled up the little compartment. He looks extremely well and while he has managed to lose some weight, James, who looks equally well, has gained some.

The latter was trying to prolong his holiday by wearing his summer clothes as long as possible, and had on a suit which looked distinctly chilly, though he had put on a sweater under the coat, which gave him visitors and his voice sounds quite strong and cheerful. Therefore, I am staying here this afternoon seeing a number of people and finishing up a few tag ends of Christmas preparations. I wonder if any of my readers read a letter published in the July Forum written by an Arkansas farmer's wife? Yesterday I received from her the story of her life which a book publisher told her he would be interested in reading. With characteristic modesty she sends it to me with permission to change anything I wish, and with a plea that I read it before I send it on I doubt whether it is long enough for a book, and I have only read the first few pages, but if it continues in as simple and straightforward a style, I hope it will see the light of day in some publication. I have also received a small volume of poetry, a collection called "The Chautauqua Poets," edited by Dudley Gordon. One cannot expect uniform excellence in any collection, but if you like poetry I think you will enjoy looking over this little book. (Copyright, 1936, for The Constitution.)

The club decided to sponsor a benefit bridge party January 16, the place to be announced later. Miss Alberta et be ann Answer: Use all your powers of persuasion to make your husband postpone hasty action and, if you fail, retire gracefully and let him go his cruel way. In the name of all that's fair and fine you haven't merited what he has given you. But the emotion which he calls love is neither fair nor fine. The fact that you have worked to help him get ahead doesn't count with him while he is under the spell of the new infatuation. The knowledge he is tearing your heart out by the roots won't cool his fever. It will have to hurn itself out and it probably will.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I am in love with a boy whose family background is inferior to mine. But he is nicelooking, has good manners, fine character and works hard. My parents think I will get over it, but I know better. When he can't be with me I stay alone, as no other boys interest me. I am an unhappy, dissatisfied secretary when I could be a happy wife and housekeeper. Do you think inferior ancestors could keep a man from being a good husband when he is a considerate, thoughtful fiance?

Answer: If even half what you believe about your light-o-love is true, his humble origin won't reduce your chances of being happily duce your chances of being happily married to him. Of course his clan (if they live in the same town) may be a source of embarrassment to you. Whereas, before marriage a girl has little or no connection with her fiance's family. after marriage they are her family. The hushand's father and mother will be her children's grandparents and his sisters and brothers will be their aunts and uncles. So mull on this matter hefore you make the decision.

THE GINGERBREAD FAMILY

THE GINGERBREAD FAMILY WAITS CHRISTMAS DAY

Nancy's regular and traditional Christmas cookies, such as peppernuts, springerle and almond stars were made weeks before Christmas. She kept the week before the holiday for the making of cookies that would not improve on standing.

Her gingerbread men were paired with the gingerbread women. The small ginger family was added to be in readiness for Christmas distribution. It was the custom of the Page house to give each caller a ginger-bread cookie as he or she left the house. Here is the recipe Nancy used. She melted one-half cup shortening and added to it three-quarters cup of molasses and one-quarter cup of brown sugar. When the mixture was smooth she added one egg, quite well beaten. Then she sifted, measured and sifted three cups of flour. To this she added one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon powdered ginger and three teaspoons tartrate baking powder. Had she been using a double acting baking powder she would have cut the amount down to one and one-half teaspoons. These dry ingredients were mixed with the sugar, molasses, egg and shortening combination. After thorough

From All-Benny, Georgia, comes a letter:

'I hand you herewith the announcement of your club's sixth annual trial. Permit me to say that, all in all, conditions are propitious for the most successful event in the history of the We expect our grounds to be acclaimed as the very best in America. Please don't forget that horses have to be arranged for in advance and be sure and bring your saddle. . . And at the bottom of the letter a note from Hillsman Walters, the secretary, saying to come on down. The sixth annual running of the Southern Amateur Field Trial Club will begin near All-Benny on the morning of January 18.

I'll be there. And already I can see the fields and the dogs and hear the creak of saddle leather as the gallery rides. But it might be a good idea for Sheriff Fort Tarver to have a wagon ready—a field wagon, and not "THE" wagon of his

There is quite a difference. You see, those saddles get awfully hot after an hour or so of riding. It does seem that, with all the modern inventions and progress of science, someone would come forward with an air-cooled saddle. They have aircooled restaurants and barbershops and hotels and

But nothing gets hotter than a saddle on a cold January morning at a field trial. Nothing at all.

And the field wagons could do with a little knee action. The ordinary field wagon bounces across fields in such a vigorous fashion it is next to impossible to ride therein with comfort.

The Southern Amateur Club has done a great thing for amateur bird dog owners in Georgia. And strict adherence to the amateur restrictions has really made the club a success. For a time there was a clamor for an open stake. But the amateur trials owe their tremendous popularity to the fact the competition is amateur. It lacks all the pressure of the professional trials, which have their very definite place.

But the amateur field trial is so very really amateur in spirit and execution it has become one of the great bird dog events

ALL-BENNY IS THE SPOT.

And All-Benny is the place to hold it. One of the interesting events will be the running of Springwood Spider, owned by the club's vice president, Thomas C.

Chubb, of Connecticut and Georgia. Springwood Spider, one of the "birdiest" dogs in Georgia, is redeeming himself, so to speak.

Last February, Springwood Spider was running in the money in the Georgia-Florida trials just over the line in Florida on the Whitney plantation.

It was a hot, dry day. And Spider was working out a birdless territory in great fashion after having previously pointed and handled two fine coveys.

A small herd of pigs—some 10 or 15—grunted out onto his path. He hesitated—and the call of the blood of Muscle Shoals Jake, which was in his veins, whispered in his ear. And he grabbed a pig by the ear.

Such a squealing as went up! It was, or would have been, very humorous had it not ruined a great performance and had not the terror and the pain of the pig fallen so emphatically on the ear.

Muscle Shoals Jake is one of the great sires. But he had an aversion for pigs and goats, did Muscle Shoals Jake, and now and then it stirs in the blood of his descendants.

Spider has redeemed himself and undoubtedly will be back for All-Benny. He is a great dog and much in demand. His Convincing Victory Will Partly Settle Score With T. C. U.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 17 .- (A)-Louisiana State University will be aiming at more than just a victory in the Sugar Bowl game here with Santa Clara on New Year's Day.

The players want it to be a bet ter victory than Texas Christian's 9matters-even if indirectly-with T. to-0 triumph last week over Santa Clara, soiling the Californian's unbeaten and untied record.

The Bayou Tigers want to square C. U., which eked out a thrilling 3-2 decision over them in last year's Sugar Bowl battle.

All indications, however, point to a pretty close game with Louisiana probably a slight favorite.

For comparison, Santa Clara downed Auburn, 12 to 0, and L. S. U. walloped them two weeks later, 19 to 6. On that unstable basis, L. S. U. rates 1 point better than the west coasters.

Meanwhile. New Orleans was getting ready for the greatest football crowd in its history. Workers are busy putting up temporary stands to increase the stadium capacity to about 40,000.

Every ticket, the football committee said, has been sold. They said many more could be disposed of and then asserted plans were under foot for completion of a stadium to take care of about 70,000 fans next year.

The Sugar Bowl press agents said rained in New Orleans on New Year's Day only once in the past 39 years. That once, apparently, was during last year's set-to.

Anyhow, L. S. U. is ready to "shoot the works" on its famed grid show—the dazzling color daubed on by the late Huey P. Long.

The gigantic 200-plus-piece band, the 2,500 uniformed cadets, the live Bengal tiger mascot, Mike, and the purple jackets, the school's 50 prettiest co-eds, will all do their bit.

He Should Be All Right by Monday: Preston Acts as Referee.

By Jack Troy.

Georgia Tech's last quarterback was helped out of the action yesterday with a painful ankle injury, and Bobby Dodd, backfield coach, called the sig-nals for the varsity during the re-mainder of the long scrimmage.

When Fletch Sims caught a pass from Dutch Konemann and then sprained his ankle attempting to twist out of the arms of a Bee tackler, he joined Lawrence Hays on the injured list and left Dodd, as an inactive player-coach, to direct the team.

Only one more acrimmage is scheduled this week. It will be held Saturday afternoon. Sims will be held out of the rough work. Coach Alexander said today's practice would be marked by the absence of body contests.

Coach Alex does not intend to work Preston very hard today or tomorrow. Present plans call for Saturday's scrimmage to be the last one in prep-aration for the California game Sat-urday week at Grant field.

So in shifting Preston from center to tackle, the coaches will not have an opportunity to see him working under fire. On the other hand, in previous scrimmages this season there was an opportunity to see him go to work at guard. He showed the coaches some-

Coach Alex thinks Preston will do Coach Alex thinks Preston will do real well at tackle against the Bears. Phil Chance, one-half of Tech's experienced tackle combination, has no chance to play. He has been out in track clothes all week. But he can't run nor take part in any rough work. Hence the shifting of Preston remained as the only solution, and an attack of flu prevented him from scrimmaging at the new position.

REAL AERIAL ACTION.

Yesterday's scrimmage produced the real action of the week. It was a passing and kicking scrimmage, for the most part. It was difficult, indeed, to keep up with the number of times the varsity scored as the result of passes. Scored as the result of passes.

On the other hand, the Bee team scored once on a pass caught by Ison and again on a pass intercepted by Beard. Then, too, Harry Appleby was thrown for a safety attempting to operate the fake kick.

The Reds scored, all right, but they were smothered under an avalanche of varsity touchdowns.

Konemann caught a number of passes from Jimmy Moore and Scrappy Edwards and scored almost at will. Jim Morgan was on the receiving end of several aerials.

They mixed it all up. Konemann threw passes and also caught some. Moore passed well to Konemann and Morgan and also was found on the receiving end of others. Dick Beard caught a couple of passes.

N. Y. U. Reported Seeking To Resume Series With Georgia

SCHOOLS LIKELY TO RENEW PLAY IN 1938 SEASON

Violets, Bulldogs Slated To Sign Three-Year Contract.

By Ralph McGill.

A gentleman in New York who knows my address and how to write telegrams, informs me with a wire yesterday afternoon that New York University and Georgia very likely will sign a three-year contract to begin with the 1938 season.
"Negotiations have been in progress for some time," he reports, "and they were instigated by New York University which wants to get back on the sity which wants to get back on the Georgia schedule. "You may expect the contract to "You may expect the contract to be signed soon if Georgia accepts the N. Y. U. request."

ATTRACTIVE SCHEDULE.

All of which would give Georgia a most attractive schedule beginning with the 1938 season. Dartmouth already is on the card with a two-year contract.

And that is one series which Georgia hopes to continue. Dartmouth and Georgia make up an ideal series to replace the old Yale Georgia series, which Yale discontinued. Eventually, which Yale discontinued. which Yale discontinued. Eventually Yale is expected to be back on the Georgia schedule but for the present there will be no move in that di-

"I hope that is one which will go on and on," he said. "A game with Dartmouth means something. And we hope it will be extended beyond the two-year period how in force." Athletic Director H. Stegeman voiced the same senti-

ONE OPEN DATE. The 1937 Georgia football schedule which has been announced as to games, is still unsettled as to dates. The one open date is holding up things and may force a shift in some of the dates.

Holy Cross is the only intersectional foe on the 1937 schedule. South Carolina is a newcomer.

Georgia's spring practice will begin in Yebruary and the shift, which was very successful once the team of the past season mastered it, will be retained for 1037. Indications are the team of next fall will be handicapped by lack of speed as was the one of the past season. The shift helps out.

But if Georgin and N. Y. U. do reach an agreement the 1938 schedule will be a magnificent one.

And the New York newspaperman. who learned of the negotiations, reports he believes an agreement will be reached.

Lou Gehrig Second With Return of Star Boosts 152; Jimmy Foxx Takes Third Place. Lanier Saturday. CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—(P)—The big bat swung by Hal Trosky, Cleveland's young first baseman, brought him his first American league leadership at batting in runs last season, and kept New York's Yankees from making a sweep of honors in that division.

Trosky's war club drove in 162 runs, 49 more than when he finished fourth in 1935, and 10 more than the 1936 total compiled by Lou Gehrig, leader of the walloping Yankees' as sault on records. Jimmy Foxx, of Boston, was third with 143, and Zeke Bonura, of Chicago, had 138 for fourth place. First basemen were in possession of the four top positions for the second straight season.

Hank Greenberg, of Detroit, led in Hank Greenberg, of Detroit, led in Bob McDuffie at quarter and George place. First basemen were in possession of the four top positions for the second straight season.

Hank Greenberg, of Detroit, led in 1935 with 170 runs batted in, but played in only 12 games last year due to a fractured wrist. Gehrig was runnerup to Greenberg that season with 119, Foxx was third with 115, while Trosky had 113. Trosky's triumph also made it the seventh consecutive season in which a first baseman led the league. Gehrig won in 1930 and 1931, Foxx was tops in 1932 and 1933 and Gehrig bounced back in 1934.

100 OR MORE.

Eighteen players batted in 100 or more runs, bettering the former major league record of 17, set by the National league in 1930.

Following the four leaders were: Julius Solters, St. Louis, 134; Luke Appling, Chicago, 128; Earl Arezill, Cleveland, 126; Goose Goslin, Detroit, and Joe Di Maggio, New York, 126; Beau Bell, St. Louis, 123; Bob Johnson, Philadelphia, 121; De Kunel, Washington, 118; Charley Gehringer, Detroit, 116; Al Simmons, Detroit, 112; Tony Lazzeri, New York, 105; Bill Dickey and George Selkirk, New York, 107, and Marvin Owen, Detroit, 105.

The Yankees set three new team major league runs-batted-in marks. By slugging in 995 runs they bettered their own former record of 991, in 1931. Their 25 in one game against Philadelphia May 24, replaced the mark of 23 established by the A's in 1929. The presence of five players, Gehrig, Di Maggio, Lazzeri, Dickey and Selkirk in the 100-or-more list, also was a record.

A TRIBUTE TO THE DOG.

People never cease wanting copies of two old favorites-"Casey at the Bat"—and Senator George Graham Vest's tribute Senator Vest's tribute was made before a jury in defending a suit involving a dog. His tribute, which must be in thousands of scrapbooks, has been requested frequently and is reproduced "Gentlemen of the Jury: The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps, when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and poverty, in health and sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens.

"If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by the graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even in death."

That oration will move most any dog-owner to tears. It has been declaimed thousands of times and likely will be declaimed on thousands of future occasions and pasted into thousands of future scrapbooks.

V. M. I. APPOINTS POOLEY' HUBER NEW GRID COACH

Ex-Alabama Star Named To Succeed Bill Raftery.

LEXINGTON, Va., Dec. 17.—(P) Allison T. S. "Pooley" Hubert, star quarterback of Alabama's 1925 Rose Bowl team and for the past six years athletic director and head coach at Mississippi State Teachers' College, was appointed head football coach at Virginia Military Institute today.

The Alabama athlete was selected from a list of 50 candidates by the V. M. I. athletic council for the position left vacant by the resignation of William C. Raftery, cadet mentor for the past ten years.

Hubert will also serve as head coach of basketball and baseball. He will report on January 1 and will select four assistants, subject to the approval of the council.

Salary terms were not revealed Raftery received $5,000 a year. Council members said that Hubert's Council members said that Hubert's success in developing team. from limited material at the Hattiesburg, Miss., college was an important factor in his selection. During the past season his footbal! team, developed from a squad of 25, was a leading contender in the S. I. A. A., winning seven games, losing two, and tying one from opponents of much larger student bodies.

As a football player, Hubert performed one season at tackle, one year at fullback, and two years at quarterback on Alabama's Crimson Tide. During the seasons of 1924 and 1925 he was All-Southern quarterback, and during the latter season was voted the most valuable player on the team.

He received national recognition on January 1, 1926, when he led the Tide to a thrilling 20-19 victory over the University of Washington, this year's Rose Bowl contender. Hubert scored one touchdown and passed for another in Alabama's second-half drive.

drive.

V. M. I.'s new head man in athletics is 35 years old, is married and has two children. He was born in Meridian, Miss., and attended Meridian High school; Wentworth Military Academy, and Missouri Military Academy.

investment quarters may have done a little year-end switching of holdings or that accounts were being adjusted on a tax basis.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .4 of a point at 70.3. Transfers totaled 1.951,220 shares compared with 1.945,000 yesterday.

The steel division revived briskly in the afternoon, along with carrier equipments, on reports of expanding orders for rails and other materials which were expected to push mill activities to new peaks before the end of this month.

which were expected to push mill activities to new peaks before the end of this month.

Labor difficulties that may delay output of new automobiles kept the motors in the background. Growing operating profits for some railroads helped to sustain this group, although most transportation shares finished a trifle mixed. Merchandising stocks drifted lower.

Low-priced issues were notably in the minority on the ticker tape. Of the day's 20 liveliest movers only two sold below $10.

Wall Street felt better when a stock exchange seat changed hands at $115,000, up $10,000 from the last transaction and $28,000 above the year's low established December 1.

Rubber, zinc and rye exhibited further strength among commodities, reaching new post-depression tops. At Chicago rye was up 1 1-4 to 3 cents a bushel, wheat was 7-8 off to ahead 1 1-8, and corn gained 1-4 to 3-4. 1 1-8, and corn gained 1-4 to 3-4.

By STEPHEN DICKINSON.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—(P)—Gains showed a slight edge over losses in the bond market today where trading generated the greatest mo-mentum in more than two months.

Demand was spread over the entire list. South American and domestic railroad and utility issues snared the lion's share. The latter groups staged a spotty recovery from the previous days sebacks, while South American loans continued an upswing dating from about the advent of the Pan-

American peace parley.

Buenos Aires 3s of 1984 gained 2 5-8 to 66 3-4 and the 4 1-4s to 4 1-2s added 1 1-4 at 81 3-8, while other obligations of the city moved up fractionally. Colombia, Peru and Chile bods also were higher

In the domestic railroad division St. Paul and New Haven loans attracted solid support. The St Paul 5s of 1975 worked 3-4 higher to 29, while the adjustment 5s of 2000 edged up ed solid support. The St Paul 5s of 1975 worked 3-4 higher to 29, while the adjustment 5s of 2000 edged up 1-4 on 1,061 sales. Spectacular jumps were recorded by Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Cleveland and St. Louis 4s and New York, Susquehanna and Wester side of the line, a long list of low and medium priced bonds showed by the state of the line, a long list of 1940. Gains in the utility quarter were uniformly small, most of them in the sighborhood of balf a point.

face value, for all bonds compared with $16,005,000 on Wednesday. It was the heaviest volume since Oc-tober 9 when $19,052,000 changed

The Associated Press averages were unchanged to slightly higher. The 20 rails added .1 of a point to 97.7 and the 10 utilities .1 of a point to 102.3. The 10 low-yield dipped .1 of a point to 113.3.

"That's too lofty a subject for me, my Arlen."

"On the contrary, Toby, it is simplicity that people can't attain."

Renny was due Sunday morning. Walking down Fifth avenue Saturday afternoon in the damp, cool air, Arlen caught herself staring at children tugging at their parents' hands, peering out of car windows, looking excitedly from atop a bus, and wondering what kind of child Allison Maynard was. There was much in her that wanted to pity Renny, but she, knew how he would hate the sentimental pity that Fanny had for him.

Arlen knew that the New York venture was far from successful. It had doubled her problems, drawn her into the lives of many people who were all too willing to thrust their burdens on her, and it had changed the whole scope of her life. While Louise was kind, in time she would unleash her jagged nerves on her as she did on the servants. It was only the presence of Richard that spared her. It was to Louise and Richard, living an unreal life, rather than to Renny, who had a gift for living, that she directed her pity.

What would be the outcome of it, she asked herself, going into a store as the first drops of cold rain fell.

Her room was as small as she had described it, its furnishings consisting of a dresser, a day-bed, and one chair. On the dresser, were two photographs, one snapshot of a seowling a studio portrait of Elissa.

Elissa curled up on the day-bed. If just got in, too. I tried my French on a customer today and it didn't go off badly. What's in the box you have?

"A green velvet dinner dress." Said Arlen, "that I couldn't resist, It begade merves on her as she did on the servants. It was only the present in perfect understanding. "Dear." said Elissa, "I know. You can lower your eyes when his name is mentioned but guilt is in every other feature. You shouldn't be ashamed of loving Renny."

"I'm not," Arlen add dresser, a day-bed.

One form of "noiseless" typewriter.

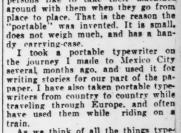

The silent typewriter is only one example of the progress made in the writing machine industry. We also have electric typewriters, and their use may grow in years to come.

Not counting machines of such special kinds, we have typewriters far better than those used in early days. The modern machine is stronger than the early models, and does not get out of order nearly so often.

Early typewriters had only capital letters. Today, with the "shift" we can type either capitals or small letters. The silent typewriter is only one Another trouble with most early typewriters was that a person couldn't see what he had written until after he lifted up the paper.

Typewriters commonly used in of-fices are large, heavy and rather hard to move about. They serve the needs of typists very well, but some persons like to take their machines train.

As we think of all the things type-writers help us to do, and of the time they save, we can be glad that such men as Thurber and Sholes lived and did their work. They gave real help to the world.

Breathless Moments By CHARLES W. DUKE.

Soaring high over the city of Stockholm, the Royal Swedish Air Service "ace" points the nose of his ship into the sky and "gives her the gun." Behind him, in the open cockpit is a girl passenger. She is his cousin, a college girl, a tall, blond athletic type. She loves skyriding. Many times she has been his passenger.

Just the afternoon for stunts—loops and spins. The girl wants to be initiated into the trick of flying. Plain, straight-away travel is too tame for this dynamic beauty. She wants thrills-and not alone for the sher adventure of it. Her ambition is to become an aerial acrobat. Today her cousin is to do a somer-sault in the sky. "Are you all set now?" he calls back to her. She is ready—and laughing for the sheer joy of it. He counsels her to make sure her safety belt is secure. Otherwise she will fall out when they are upside down. She assures him everything is O. K. Upward they surge in a great, sweeping arc, their heads pointing sweeping arc, their heads pointing earthward as they go into an inverted the cockpit. Censuring himself for having given in to the girl's whims and taken her for this "last ride." Captain Henry Gibson, the Swedish air ace, rights his plane and zooms down in pursuit of the falling girl.

She is laughing. Deliberately she unbuckled the safety belt that held her in the cockpit. She has a parachute. It is an antiquated type, with the ripcord placed back of the left shoulder, instead of across the chest. However, it is a parachute—and surely it will open. With eyes shut, she tugs at the rings in her fingers. Then she opens her eyes. Yes, the "big umbrella" is opening.

unconstitutional.

Saying that if the motion were granted the board might as well go fishing until the supreme court acts.

Madden again overruled.

Then Bye asked for a postponement until February 18, saying the corporation couldn't possibly prepare its case for a hearing this week.

Lawyers agreed that the hearing was to proceed immediately, but the steel company was to be given until late January to prepare its case.
